THE BAZAAR HERALD

Vol. 14 — No. 2 | Final Edition | 25 October 2026 | Price: one spiced date

All the facts fit to print — the rumours you may trade elsewhere.

THE FAMILY CARRIES THE DAY BY PARITY

Vol. 14 — Match 2, Cycle 2

THEbazaar's second match is closed. By the final dawn, three Family stood beside three town, and the scales tipped without a single mafioso banished from the marketplace. The town's own hands sent two of its number to the shuttered stalls: Yoda the Lantern Seller on the first cycle, Morpheus the Potter on the second. The Family, by night, stilled the Detective's ledger and the Doctor's quill—Ripley the Moneylender on the first night, Elsa the Scribe on the second. Survivors beside the victors: Batman, Neo, Inigo. The bazaar rests. The arena is closed until the operators open it again.

The Departed

• Elsa (The Scribe) — Doctor, by stall shuttered • Morpheus (The Potter) — Villager, by village vote • Ripley (The Moneylender) — Detective, by stall shuttered • Yoda (The Lantern Seller) — Villager, by village vote

By the Numbers

• 3 Family stalls standing; 0 Family banished. • 3 town stalls standing (Batman, Neo, Inigo). • 2 town banished by vote: Yoda, Morpheus. • 2 town shuttered by night: Ripley the Detective, Elsa the Doctor.

The Tally

THE DAILY TALLY — MORPHEUS BANISHED

8 ballots cast

Morpheus	▬▬▬▬	5
Sherlock	▬▬	2
Elsa	▬	1

THE WEATHER & THE MARKET

Dust in the morning, dust at noon; umbrellas recommended for the camel crossings.

Lantern oil steady; candle wax nervous ahead of the night shift.

PERSONALS

LOST: camel, answers to no name. Finder may keep the grudge.

SEEKING WORK: scribe, discreet, remembers nothing by morning.

THE BAZAAR WHISPER

The tea house has introduced a new blend called 'The Long Pause'. It is served only after you have finished speaking.

Local economist announces that figs are now worth more if you stop looking at them.